

Sponsored by the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures

Teaching Foreign Languages Online: A Discussion on Current Practices

January 20, 2012

4 - 5pm

138 Leutze Hall

The Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures invites you to attend a workshop and discussion on teaching foreign languages online. The workshop will be led by Stephanie Howe, Instructor of French at the University of Georgia. Issues to be discussed include:

- ◆ Speaking practice for online students
- ◆ Assessing online students
- ◆ Materials used in online language classes
- ◆ Synchronous vs. asynchronous instruction

- If you teach or have taught online, share with us what worked and didn't work for you.
- If you are planning to teach online, come see what experienced online instructors have to say.

Sponsored by the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures at the University of North Carolina Wilmington

