

Vocabulary Since Midterm

|  |                             |
|--|-----------------------------|
| ācer, ācris, acre                       | bitter, sharp               |
| acerbus, -a, -um                        | bitter                      |
| acūtus, -am –um                         | sharp, keen, acute          |
| adeō                                    | to the point where ...      |
| adeō, -īre, adīi, adītum                | to approach, to visit       |
| alloquor (adloquor), -ī, allocutus sum  | to speak to or with someone |
| altus, -a, -um                          | high, deep                  |
| amor, amoris m                          | love                        |
| antehac                                 | before this                 |
| asper, -era, -erum                      | rough, harsh, severe, wild  |
| aspiciō, -ere, aspexī, aspectum         | to look at                  |
| atque (also ac)                         | and also                    |
| at                                      | but                         |
| audeō, -ēre, ausus sum                  | to dare                     |
| auferō, auferre, abstulī, ablātum       | to carry away               |
| aut; aut ... aut                        | or, or else; either ... or  |
| beatus, -a, -um                         | blessed                     |
| bellus, -a, -um                         | beautiful, handsome         |
| bibō, -ere, bibī                        | to drink                    |
| brevis, -e                              | brief                       |
| campus, -ī m                            | field                       |
| cārus, -a –um                           | dear                        |
| centum                                  | a hundred                   |
| crās                                    | tomorrow                    |
| crēdō, -ere, crēdidī, crēditum + dative | to believe                  |
| culpa, -ae f                            | fault, blame, infidelity    |
| cūra, -ae f                             | a care or concern           |
| deinde (also dein)                      | then                        |
| dēliciae, -ārum f pl                    | pet, darling                |
| dēsinō, -ere, desīi, desītum            | to stop, cease              |
| dies, dieī, m                           | day                         |

|   |  |
|---|--|
| dīligō, -ere, dīlēxī, dīlēctum   | to esteem, cherish, love                                 |
| doleō, -ēre, doluī               | to suffer  |
| donec                            | up to the time when , until; so long as, while           |
| dōnō, -āre, -āvi, -ātum          | to give  |
| dulcis, -e                       | sweet  |
| dummodo                          | provided that, so long as                                |
| dūrō, -āre, -āvī, -ātum          | to become hard   |
| etsī                             | even if  |
| exercitus, -ūs m                 | army   |
| expavescō, -ere, expavī          | to fear greatly, dread                                   |
| fās (indecl.)                    | what is permissible or right under natural or divine law |
| fatālis, -e                      | deadly   |
| fateor, fatērī, fassus sum       | to confess, admit  |
| fatum, -ī n                      | fate   |
| ferō, ferre, tulī, latum         | to carry   |
| fides, fideī f                   | trust, faith   |
| fiō, fierī, factus sum           | to happen  |
| flavus, -a, -um                  | blond, fair  |
| fleō, flēre, flēvī, flētum       | to weep, drip, trickle                                   |
| flūmen, flūminis n               | river  |
| focus, -ī m                      | hearth (the center of the home); home                    |
| foedus, foederis n               | treaty, agreement  |
| Fors, Fortis f                   | fate (personified)                                       |
| fortūna, -ae f                   | fortune, fate, chance                                    |
| frigus, frigōris n               | cold   |
| gēns, gentis f                   | clan, stock, people, tribe, nation                       |
| gracilis, -e                     | graceful, slender  |
| gravis, grave                    | serious, heavy   |
| hora, -ae f                      | hour, time   |
| hortor, hortārī, hortātus sum    | to urge  |
| iaceō, -ēre, iacuī               | to lie down, be prostrate                                |
| identidem                        | again and again  |
| ignis, ignis m                   | fire   |
| imperō, -āre, -āvī, -ātum + dat. | to command   |

|                                       |   |
|---------------------------------------|---|
| impotēns, impotentis           | lacking self-control, powerless, headstrong                         |
| incitō, -āre, -āvi, ātum       | to provoke, incite  |
| indignus, -a, -um              | undeserving   |
| indignē                        | unworthily, undeservedly, impatiently                               |
| intereā                        | meanwhile   |
| invitus, -a, -um               | unwilling   |
| iratus, -, -um                 | angry   |
| lēnis, -e                      | smooth, mild, gentle  |
| levis, -e                      | light, of little worth, fickle, contemptible                        |
| libet, libēre, libuit + dative | “it pleases”  |
| lignum, -ī m                   | wood  |
| loquor, -ī, locutus sum        | to speak, say   |
| lūdō, -ere, lūsī, lūsum        | to play   |
| lūmen, lūminis n               | light, (pl. eyes)   |
| lux, lucis f                   | light   |
| mālō, mālle, māluī             | to prefer, to want (something) more                                 |
| mēns, mentis f                 | mind  |
| meus, -a, -um                  | my  |
| mille                          | a thousand  |
| miser, misera, miserum         | unhappy, miserable, wretched  |
| mollis, mollis                 | soft  |
| mordeō, -ēre, momordī, morsum  | to bite   |
| mens, mentis f                 | mind  |
| mōs, mōris m                   | will, inclination, custom; plural: ways, conduct, character, morals |
| multum (adv.)                  | to command  |
| mūnus, mūneris n               | to join   |
| mūtus, -a, -um                 | unspeaking, mute  |
| nē                             | so that ... not   |
| nēquīquam                      | in vain   |
| nesciō, -īre, -īī, -ītum       | to not know   |
| nesciō + infinitive            | to not be able to [do]  |
| nihil                          | nothing   |
| nimium                         | too much  |

|  |  |
|--|--|
| nisi  | if ... not   |
| nobis (dat. or abl.)                                  | (to) us  |
| nōlō, nōlle, nōluī                                    | to not ... wish; to be unwilling, to refuse          |
| noscō, -ere, nōvī, notum                              | to know  |
| noster, nosta, nostrum                                | our  |
| nullus, -a, -um                                       | no ....  |
| nunc  | now  |
| obdūrō, -āre, -āvī, -ātum                             | to hold out, to become inured to or resolved against |
| obliviscor, -ī, oblitus sum(deponent) + genitive | to forget  |
| opera, -ae f [mea opera ]                             | pains, trouble, exertion ["thanks to me"]            |
| occīdō, -ere, occīdī, occīsum                         | to kill  |
| occīdō, -ere, occīdī, occasum                         | to set   |
| officium, ī n   | duty   |
| onus, oneris n  | burden   |
| oportet, oportēre, oportuit (+ inf.)                  | it is necessary, one ought                           |
| ōtium, ī n  | freedom from responsibility                          |
| pār, paris (m, f, n)                                  | equal  |
| pars, partis f  | part   |
| patior, patī, passus sum                              | to suffer, endure, permit                            |
| pariēs, pariētis, m                                   | wall (of a house)                                    |
| pareō, -ēre, paruī + dat.                             | to be obedient to, obey                              |
| perdō, perdere, perdidī, perditum                     | to destroy, ruin, lose                               |
| pereō, -īre, periī, peritum (from eo, -ire)           | to die, perish, be lost                              |
| permittō, -ere, permīsī, permissum                    | to allow, permit                                     |
| pēs, pedis m  | foot   |
| petō, -ere, petīvī, petitum                           | to seek, ask, demand, strive for                     |
| placeō, -ēre, placuī, placitum + dat.                 | to be pleasing to                                    |
| potēns, potentis                                      | powerful   |
| potis, -e   | possible   |
| postrēmus, -a, -um                                    | the last, worst, hindmost (superlative of            |

|   |                                  |
|---|----------------------------------|
|   | posterus, “following”)           |
| prae + abl.                                | instead of, before               |
| praebēō, -ēre, praebūī,praebitum      | to offer, provide                |
| prīscus, -a, -um                           | ancient, old                     |
| prius                                      | before, previously               |
| quaerō, -ere, quaesīvī,quaesītum      | to seek, look for                |
| quantus, -a, -um                           | how great a ...                  |
| quidem (postpositive)                      | indeed, certainly, even          |
| quō  | to where                         |
| quondam                                    | formerly, once; sometime(s)      |
| quotiens                                   | how often, how many times        |
| requīrō, -ere, requīsīvī,requīsītum   | to seek after, to look for again |
| res, rei f                                 | thing, matter                    |
| respondeō, -ere, respondī,responsum   | to answer                        |
| rideō, -ēre, rīsi, rīsum                   | to laugh, smile, look cheerful   |
| ruina, -ae f                               | destruction                      |
| sanus, -a, -um                             | healthy, sane                    |
| saevus, -a, -um                            | savage, cruel                    |
| scilicet                                   | certainly, clearly               |
| sciō, scire, scivī, scitum                 | to know                          |
| se   | him- or her- self, themselves    |
| senex , senis, m                           | an old man                       |
| sentio, -ire, sensi, sensum                | to feel, perceive, understand    |
| sequor, sequī, secutus sum                 | to follow                        |
| serpens, serpentis f                       | snake                            |
| serviō, -īre, servīvī, servitum +dat. | to be a slave to; serve          |
| sīdus, sīderis n                           | star, constellation              |
| signum, -ī n                               | sign, indication                 |
| sodalis, sodalis m or f                    | friend, companion                |
| soleō, solēre, solitus sum                 | to be accustomed                 |
| sonitus, ūs m                              | sound, noise                     |

|                                       |  |
|---------------------------------------|--|
| spērō, -āre, -āvī, -ātum       | look for, expect, hope for                     |
| stō, stāre, steti, statum      | to stop, to stand                              |
| studeō, -ēre, studuī + dative  | to direct one's zeal to, be eager for, study   |
| superō , -āre, āvī, ātum       | to surpass                                     |
| superbus, -a, -um              | proud  |
| taceō, -ēre, tacuī, tacitum    | to be silent                                   |
| tālis, -e                      | such, of this kind                             |
| tam                            | so, to such a degree                           |
| tam ... quam                   | as ... as                                      |
| tantus, tanta, tantum          | such a great ...                               |
| tantum ... quantum             | as much as ...                                 |
| tegō, -ere. tēxī, tēctum       | to cover                                       |
| tellus, -ūs f                  | earth, ground                                  |
| tempus, -ōris n                | time   |
| tenebrae, -arum f. pl.         | darkness, night, blindness, obscurity          |
| teneō, -ēre, tenuī, tentum     | to hold  |
| tenuis, -e                     | fine, thin                                     |
| trādō, -ere, trādidi, trāditum | to hand over, to hand down                     |
| tristis, -e                    | sad, grim                                      |
| tuus, tua, tuum                | your   |
| unde                           | from where                                     |
| urgeō, ēre, ursī               | to push, press, drive, urge                    |
| uro, -ere, ussi, ustum         | to burn  |
| usque                          | all the way, continuously, through and through |
| ūtor, ūtī, ūsus sum            | to use, enjoy, experience                      |
| vacuus, -a, -um                | empty, void, at leisure, vain                  |
| ventus, -ī m                   | wind   |
| vehō, -ere, vexī, vectum       | to carry                                       |
| velut                          | just as  |
| verus, -a, -um                 | true   |
| vestīmentum, -ī n              | clothing (usually plural)                      |
| vetus, veteris                 | old  |
| vīlis, -e                      | cheap, common                                  |
| vinum, -i n                    | wine   |

|  |                        |
|--|------------------------|
| vīs (acc. vim; abl. vī; pl. nom. vīres) | strength, power, force |
| vix                                     | scarcely               |
| vōbis (dat. or abl.)                    | (to) you               |
| volō, velle, voluī                      | to wish, to want       |
| vultus, -ūs m                           | face                   |
| vulgus, vulgaris                        | the common crowd       |