

Run DMC were one of the first performers to wear Adidas products. They were also the driving force behind the Adidas jumpsuit trend of the 80s. In 1986, Run DMC recorded a song, "My Adidas," in which they rapped about their shoes. Later, Adidas offered the group an endorsement contract. This was the first endorsement contract for a hip hop group or artist.