

Psy 320
Study Guide Exam 4
Spring 2010

Questions on the exam will require you to apply your knowledge and to recognize examples of concepts, so it is important that you understand the material and don't simply memorize definitions.

You are responsible for all material presented in class since the third exam. I have indicated below the sections in the textbook that were NOT covered in class and for which you are responsible. Focus on the key (bold) terms presented and the major themes/findings in each section. The questions on textbook material will focus on broad themes and key terms rather than very specific details. If a textbook section is not indicated below, you are NOT responsible for it. There will be no more than 10 questions (out of 50) on material presented only in the textbook. If there are fewer than 50 questions on the exam, the number of questions from the reading will be adjusted so that these questions are no more than 20% of the exam questions.

Note: There are no articles on the fourth exam.

Note: The first set of page numbers refers to the 6th edition of the textbook. The second set refers to the 5th edition.

Ch. 11

Social Class Differences in Child Rearing and Explaining Social Class Differences in Child Rearing (381-383; 357-359)

The Influence of Siblings and Sibling Relationships (388-392; 363-367)

Gay and Lesbian Families (394-395; 368-369)

Remarriage and Reconstituted Families (399-401; 372-375)

When Parenting Breaks Down: The Problem of Child Abuse (404-408; 377-381)

Ch. 12

Televised Violence and Children's Aggression (416-419 or 388-390, not including "An Experiment with Adolescents")

Other Potentially Undesirable Effects of Television (421-424; 393-396)

Television as an Educational Tool (424-427; 396-399)

Ch. 13

Who Is a Peer and What Functions Do Peers Serve? (453-456; 421-424)

The Development of Peer Sociability (456-461 or 424-429, not including Peer Sociability in Middle Childhood and Adolescence)

Parental Influences on Peer Sociability (464-467; 431-434)