

Wednesday, August 25, 2010

GO»

Advanced Search Options »

Home/News | News by Subject | Business & Lobbying | Opinion | Capital Living | Special Reports | Jobs | The Washington Scene

BLOGS Congress Blog Pundits Blog Blog Briefing Room Twitter Room Hillcon Valley E2-Wire Ballot Box On The Money Healthwatch

THE HILL
NEWS
ALERTS
SIGN UP NOW

GO

Home
Senate
House
Administration
Campaign
Business & Lobbying
BLOGS
Congress Blog
Pundits Blog
Blog Briefing Room
Twitter Room
Hillcon Valley
E2-Wire
Ballot Box
On The Money
Healthwatch

BUSINESS & LOBBYING

K Street
Insiders

NEWS BY SUBJECT

Defense & Homeland Security

Energy & Environment

Finance & Economy

Technology

All News by Subject

OPINION

A.B. Stoddard

Brent Budowsky

Lanny Davis

John Del Cecato

THE HILL'S

BLOG BRIEFING ROOM

N.J. loses out on $400M in education funds due to administrative error

By Jordan Fabian - 08/25/10 12:36 PM ET

COMMENT

EMAIL

PRINT

SHARE

New Jersey narrowly lost out on $400 million in federal "Race to the Top" education funding this week in part because of an administrative error.

The Newark Star-Ledger reported Tuesday night that the administration of Gov. Chris Christie (R) mistakenly filled out a portion of its application that cost the state almost five points on the ratings scale.

The five-point question asked for budget information comparing the 2008 and 2009 school years. But the state entered data comparing the current year to 2011 instead.

Here is more from the Star-Ledger:

That mistake cost the state 4.8 points. The state lost points in other areas as well, the records show.

In the end, New Jersey received 437.8 out of a possible 500 points, placing it 11th in the competition, just behind Ohio, which received $400 million and was the last state to receive funding. The winners of the $4.35 billion competition were announced today in Washington, D.C.

"New Jersey did not supply the 2008-2009 data as required and therefore forfeits the points," said the report from one of the federal reviewers scoring the competition.

The Obama administration announced this week that nine states and Washington, D.C., would share $3.4 billion in education funding provided by the "Race to the Top" program as the 10 finalists.

New Jersey finished in 11th place behind Ohio, which was awarded $400 million.

States must apply for the grants by showing they will use the funds to implement reforms such as teacher performance standards and increasing

BLOG BRIEFING ROOM HEADLINES

- Obama to give Oval Office address on Iraq
- Lawmakers want fiscal commission co-chair ousted over e-mail
- Obama breaks from vacation to phone Geithner, Summers
- Ex-front-runner in Fla. GOP governor's race won't endorse winner
- N.J. loses out on $400M in education funds due to administrative error
- Sen. Cornyn: We'll win Alaska no matter what
- Byrd staffer bids farewell to the Hill
- Daniels says he's not running for president in 2012
- Thune: No timetable for 2012 decision
- Key Senate Democrat suggests that he didn't read entire healthcare reform bill
- Obama makes cash appeal for House Dems
- Judge wants DeLay tried before co-defendants
- Panel recommends new DoD office for suicide prevention
- Chamber of Commerce presses House to weaken travel embargo on Cuba

Blog Briefing Room Headlines Archive »

GO TO THE HILL HOME »

ADVERTISEMENT

FOLLOW BRIEFING ROOM ON TWITTER
@ twitter.com/briefingroom

BLOG BRIEFING ROOM

Ben Goddard

David Hill

Cheri Jacobus

David Keene

Mark Mellman

Dick Morris

Markos Moulitsas (Kos)

Editorials

Letters

Op-Eds

CAPITAL LIVING

Gossip: In the Know

Cover Stories

Food & Drink

Announcements

All Capital Living

SOCIAL

Washington Scene

VIDEO

HillTube

RESOURCES

Mobile Site

iPhone

Android

Lawmaker Ratings

White Papers

Classifieds

Order Reprints

Last 6 Issues

Outside Links

RSS Feeds

CONTACT US

Advertise

Reach Us

Submitting Letters

Subscriptions

THE HILL'S RICH LIST

50 MB

Healthcare

charter schools.

According to the Star-Ledger, there is no appeals process for the grants. Gov. Christie signed the application on June 1.

New Jersey's bid touted tenure reform, merit pay and school choice.

The first phase of the grants were awarded earlier this year.

UPDATED 3:13 P.M.

Christie on Wednesday acknowledged clerical errors made by his administration were to blame for losing out on the funds, but blamed the Obama administration for not allowing New Jersey to correct the mistake.

The Newark Star-Ledger reports:

“This is the stuff, candidly, that drives people crazy about government and crazy about Washington,” Christie said at a news conference after an unrelated bill signing.

Christie slapped two thick three-ringed binders on the podium containing more than 1,000 pages of the state's “Race to the Top” application and appendices, noting that just one piece of paper contained the error.

“The first part of it is the mistake of putting the wrong piece of paper in,” Christie said. “It drives people crazy and, believe me, I’m not thrilled about it. But the second part is, does anybody in Washington, D.C. have a lick of common sense? Pick up the phone and ask us for the number.”

[...]

“That’s the stuff the Obama administration should answer for. Are you guys just down there checking boxes like mindless drones, or are you thinking?” said Christie. “When the president comes back to New Jersey, he’s going to have to explain to the people of the state of New Jersey why he’s depriving them of $400 million that this application earned.”

Christie said the mistake was made by a mid-level official at the state Department of Education, and that he would not name him because he did not want to scapegoat anyone.

“We’ll take the responsibility we need to take for putting one wrong piece of paper in a thousand page application,” he said. “If you want to take shots, take shots at me.”

Comments (13)

ADD YOUR COMMENT

PAGE | 1 | 2 | >

- FACT: Progressive Illinois Has Stopped Paying Its Bills. Michael Powell, New York Times. CHICAGO - Even by the standards of this ...
http://www.realclearpolitics.com/2010/07/03/illinois\_has\_stopped\_paying\_its\_bills\_236984.html
- FACT: With the economy ranking as the top problem in Americans' minds, Obama's ratings for handling the economy are important to his and his party's political fortunes. His economic approval ratings are generally weak, at 38% approval. Although these are down significantly from last year, they have not gotten appreciably worse in 2010.
<http://www.gallup.com/poll/141836/Issues-Obama-Finds-Majority-Approval-Elusive.aspx>
- FACT: More Americans disapprove than approve of BHO's recent comments concerning the planned construction of a mosque near where the Sept. 11 terror attacks occurred in

MOST POPULAR STORIES

Most Viewed	Emailed	Discussed
Obama breaks from vacation to phone Geithner, Summers
Key Senate Democrat suggests that he didn't read entire healthcare reform bill
N.J. loses out on $400M in education funds due to administrative error
Lawmakers want fiscal commission co-chair ousted over e-mail
Inhofe tears into McCain
Blog Home »
Most Viewed RSS Feed »

KEY BLOGS

What they are saying today ...

- Drudge Report

Riot police turned out in Atlanta to control a mob of tens of thousands of Georgians trying to get on a public housing waiting list. The jury in the corruption trial of Rod Blagojevich is reportedly deadlocked.... Read More »
- Huffington Post

HuffPo banners news of a brawl in Atlanta as tens of thousands tried to get on a public housing waiting list. Meanwhile, Wells Fargo has been ordered to return millions of dollars in overdraft fees.... Read More »

The Corner
Former President George W. Bush made a surprise trip to greet troops returning home from overseas, Kathryn Jean Lopez notes. Meanwhile, a large majority of Americans oppose building a mosque near New York's Ground Zero.... Read More »

Daily Kos
The American Bar Association has passed a resolution supporting the gay-marriage decision in California, Joan McCarter writes. Meanwhile, Ben Quayle, the son of former Vice President Dan Quayle, as found himself in hot water for allegedly writing for a raunchy Web site.... Read More »

Firedoglake
Jon Walker points to a new Pew poll finding that Dems and Republicans are tied in generic ballot matchups. Young voters, however, are unenthusiastic. Meanwhile, the chairman of the Social Security Subcommittee in the House says any cuts to the entitlement program are "completely unacceptable."... Read More »

Hot Air
Allahpundit notes that a (slim) majority of Americans thinks gays should have the right to marry, according to a new poll. Meanwhile, Pew estimates that 8 percent of Americans were born to undocumented immigrants.... Read More »

Blog Summaries Archive »

MORE NEWS HEADLINES